Real Talk

Ready to truly hear what your students have to say and gain unfiltered insights to drive positive change? Real Talk delivers independent learner voice conferences designed to genuinely and impactfully engage and amplify student perspectives.

Our dynamic, high-energy, and engaging approach creates a safe, neutral space for young people to share their views on critical issues and suggest improvements for their school, college, or community. Because Real Talk is delivered independently by Unloc, you'll benefit from honest, unbiased conversations, reaching a wider range of learners beyond traditional student councils. This provides you with an authentic understanding of their experiences and aspirations.

We'll work with you to set key topics and build a bespoke agenda. The programme culminates in a comprehensive report, summarising student feedback and providing actionable insights for your leadership team. Partner with Unloc to empower your students and harness their valuable input.

Voice Check

Want to truly understand and amplify student voice within your school or college? Voice Check offers a dynamic, senior leader-focused audit of student voice and participation. This isn't an assessment, it's a supportive, insightful process designed to illuminate your institution's strengths and pinpoint areas for growth.

Our expert team will conduct in-depth focus groups and gather feedback from diverse stakeholders, providing an unvarnished view of student engagement across all aspects of school or college life, from curriculum to culture. We use established frameworks, like Roger Hart's ladder of participation, to benchmark your current standing and identify clear pathways forward.

Voice Check culminates in a practical, step-by-step report, equipping you with actionable strategies to move the needle on student voice. Empower your institution to build a truly meaningful student voice ecosystem. Let Unloc help you lead the way in fostering a thriving, student voice ecosystem!
